We will then use this list to allocate specific room numbers for your group. It is essential that all students stay in their rooms provided for the duration of their visit - this is to assist with the contact tracing requirement needed, should an outbreak of COVID-19 arise during your group trip.

Cleanliness & safety

During this phase with the pandemic – there will be a lockout period during the day in this hostel (which means a period of time when all guests must vacate the hostel) in order to facilitate the housekeeping staff in their work to clean the rooms whilst keeping them safe. This lockout will be for limited hours during the day when most guests usually are out sightseeing. If the group is staying longer than 3 nights then with consultation with the group leader, clean bed linen will be provided.

Breakfast

While hostels can't operate self-service buffets during this time for guest safety and social distancing requirements, we've still got breakfast covered - an alternative grab and go option will be available which consists of a pastry, a carton of juice and a tea/coffee served to the table. This will be available to collect from the kitchen area.

During the initial re-opening, there will be limited access to the self-catering kitchen to comply with 2-metre social distancing requirements. It will be available, but to ensure guest safety capacity will be limited, and it must be pre-booked in advance of arrival to ensure this. The following additional measures have been implemented:

- All kitchen crockery and utensils have been removed from the kitchen to minimise the risk of cross-contamination and will be assigned for your group if you have a pre-booked slot;
- Depending on the size of your group to comply with social distancing requirements, you may need to be split up into 2 smaller groups and book 2 slots for the self-catering kitchen;
- Each slot will be available for one hour, and we request that only key members in the group do the actual cooking before the rest of the group joins in;
- The kitchen is deep cleaned twice a day, but we require guests to clean up after themselves also.

At this time, no general luggage room facilities will be available. However, for groups, it will be possible to allocate a bedroom (subject to availability) for your group's luggage if you arrive before check-in time/depart late.
